

Thank You and Sorry About the Tumbleweeds

I'm sorry I haven't posted much in the last couple of months, but it has been a rough time. Though he had been sick for a while, my father's health took a big turn for the worse around Thanksgiving finally culminating in his death on Christmas morning.

It has been a very trying time for our family and we appreciate all the kind words from friends and strangers alike.

Chris